

Aus-InSCI Community Survey Project

(Australian Arm of the International Spinal Cord Injury Community Survey Project)

Acknowledgements

The Aus-InSCI Research team would like to thank team members of each organisation involved in this study and the Steering Committee members for their time and support. The Aus-InSCI Research team authors are grateful to Spinal Cord Injuries Australia, Paraplegic and Quadriplegic Association of New South Wales and The Paraplegic and Quadriplegic Association of South Australia for their commitment and support for successful completion of the study. The Aus-InSCI Research team also would like to acknowledge the Swiss Paraplegic Research Centre for advice and ongoing support throughout the study.

This study is based on data from the International Spinal Cord Injury (InSCI) Community Survey, providing the evidence for the Learning Health System for Spinal Cord Injury (LHS-SCI, see Am J Phys Med Rehabil 2017;96(Suppl):S23–S34). The LHS-SCI is an effort to implement the recommendations described in the WHO report International Perspectives on Spinal Cord Injury (Bickenbach J et al. Geneva: WHO Press; 2013).

The members of the InSCI Steering Committee are: James Middleton, Julia Patrick Engkasan, Gerold Stucki, Mirjam Brach, Jerome Bickenbach, Christine Fekete, Christine Thyrian, Linamara Battistella, Jianan Li, Brigitte Perrouin-Verbe, Christoph Gutenbrunner, Christina-Anastasia Raptidi, Luh Karunia Wahyuni, Mauro Zampolini, Eiichi Saitoh, Bum-Suk Lee, Alvydas Juocevicius, Nazirah Hasnan, Abderrazak Hajjioui, Marcel W.M. Post, Anne Catrine Martinsen, Piotr Tederko, Daiana Popa, Conran Joseph, Mercè Avellanet, Michael Baumberger, Apichana Kovindha, Reuben Escorpizo.

Funders

Each of the sites in four states received funding to undertake this study.

- The central site in New South Wales based at John Walsh Centre for Rehabilitation Research at the University of Sydney received funding from Insurance and Care NSW (icare NSW).*
- The site in Queensland was supported by the Division of Rehabilitation, Princess Alexandra Hospital and The Hopkins Centre, Griffith University.*
- The site in Victoria received funding from the Australasian Spinal Cord Injury Network Ltd (SCIN) and Spinal Research Institute (SRI).*
- The site in South Australia received funding from Lifetime Support Authority South Australia.*